

SCHOOL

By Monique

When I walk into the school I hear, student's feet pounding on the ground, when they run to their classroom. I hear teachers yelling to the students in the hallway. I can hear the principal Mrs. Gray talking on the loud speaker.

I see teachers walking around chalkboards and between the students in every classroom. I can see a humongous lunch room and also I see the principal's office.

When the class walks into the lunch room, we can smell melted cheese, tomato sauce and much more pizza's ingredients. I can smell other type of food too.

I tasted the delicious pizza in the cafeteriaand I found out that it is good, so is the other type of food too.

The recess is very fun time for me. I like to touch the grass on the field. It feels like soft bird feather. Once I touched a lamb, let me tell you, it was softer than the grass. It was weird.

THE END / EL FIN